Tristen Chernove Appointed Managing Director, Canadian Rockies International Airport

Richmond, BC. (November 10, 2009): George Casey, President and CEO of Vancouver Airport Services (YVRAS) announces the appointment of Tristen Chernove as Managing Director of Canadian Rockies International Airport. Mr. Chernove will begin his new role on December 9 after moving from Cyprus, where he is currently completing his assignment as Operations Controller for the Readiness and Transfer of the new Larnaka International Airport.

Mr. Casey commented, “We are pleased to have Tristen in this role. While serving the Company in Cyprus, he has played an important role in the Operational Readiness Team transitioning staff and operations into two newly constructed international airport terminals in Pafos and Larnaka. His skills and experience will be welcomed at Cranbrook Airport as we continue to promote and position the expanded terminal and extended runway as an economic and tourism generator for the East Kootenay region of the Canadian Rocky Mountains of British Columbia. We acknowledge former Managing Director Phillip Elchitz for his contribution to the airport since 2001 and Todd Tripp for his role as interim Managing Director since September.

“We congratulate Tristen on his appointment and we welcome him to the community.” says Cranbrook Mayor Scott Manjak. “We know Tristen will be an integral part of the continued success of the Canadian Rockies International Airport. And we too wish to thank Todd Tripp for his contribution in his interim work as Acting Managing Director at the Airport.”

Mr. Chernove began his aviation career with Vancouver International Airport (YVR) in 2003 as a member of the Emergency Response team. He assumed a leadership role in the department and was then promoted to Airport Operations where he was later appointed Operations Shift Manager responsible for the day to day operations at YVR. In 2008 he joined Vancouver Airport Services and moved offshore to our network operations in Cyprus. “I am looking forward to moving to Cranbrook with my family and building strong relations within the community. I am very fortunate to be joining a strong and dynamic team at the Canadian Rockies International Airport. Together we will continue to manage and market the expanded airport to welcome the world to the Cranbrook and the East Kootenay region.” said Mr. Chernove.

Cranbrook Airport Services Ltd. (a wholly owned subsidiary of YVRAS) has managed and operated the airport under contract to the City of Cranbrook since 1997. In October 2008, a newly expanded and renovated terminal officially opened including new arrivals and departures areas as well as new Canada Border Services Agency facilities. Delta Airlines inaugurated seasonal weekly service to Salt Lake City, Utah in December 2008.
